Answer: Allegheny County has been proactive in initiating sustainability efforts and has enacted a number of developmental programs focusing on the expansion of projects such as air quality, solar power, green development, and tree and plant life recovery that has garnered national interest in our region. I believe Allegheny County will remain devoted to improving green partnerships and programs to utilize and protect natural resources on a local and international scale. The Sheriff's office has initiated a vehicle and fuel management system and has reduced the number of fleet vehicles to conserve fuel and decrease the emission of harmful toxins found in gasoline. The Sheriff's office is currently making efforts to curtail the unnecessary use and waste of paper by managing a paperless office.
